

(11)

THE PRESENT
CASE OF ENGLAND, AND THE PROTESTANT INTEREST.

Since the present condition of the Kingdom, and the whole Protestant Interest by the conjunction of France and Spain abroad, and a more horrid combination of several at home, must needs affect with the most melancholy Reflections all true English Hearts, all such as have any real love or zeal for their Religion, or their native Country. I cannot think it amiss to present a short and impartial View to such as have not considered the same.

In the beginning of the last Age, the Protestant Interest in Europe was more than a Match for the Roman Catholick; the Kingdom of Bohemia was almost all Protestant; near half the Subjects of Hungary, of Austria and Moravia, were Protestant (and did many times defend themselves by force against the Emperor himself, when oppress'd by him for the sake of their Religion.) That in Germany, the Houses of Newburgh were Protestant, the Palatinates for the most part of them Protestant, of the strictest sort; the Saxons entirely Protestant, and being hearty unanimous, and seated in the midst of Germany, were a Bulwark and Defence to the Protestants of many other lesser States as often as they were oppress'd for their Religion, by their own or their neighbouring Princes: That many of the Subjects of Bavaria, Bamburgh, Cologne, Wurtzburgh and Worms were Protestants. Besides these, that the Protestants of France were so powerful, as to maintain 8 or 9 Civil Wars in defence of their Religion, and always came off with advantage. The Vaudois in Italy were all of them Protestant, and great numbers of the Inhabitants of the Spanish Low Countries were of the Reform'd Religion. Besides England and Holland, and the Northern Kingdoms of Denmark and Sweden, and the Dutchy of Brandenburgh, were intirely Protestant. But now instead of this, is not the Protestant Power destroyed almost over Europe? The whole Kingdom of Bohemia entirely Popish? Are not the Protestants of Poland, Austria, Moravia utterly destroyed? Is not their destruction now carrying on, and almost finish'd in Hungary? In Germany, the Newburghers of Protestants are become fierce Enemies of the Protestant Religion. The Protestants of Bavaria, Bamburgh, Cologn, Wurtzburgh and Worms are all destroyed. In France, the Spanish Low Countries, Savoy and Vaudois, after long and mighty Struggles, the Religion is utterly extinguished. Against the poor Palatines the Persecution is now carrying on with its usual barbarity, and their Neighbours the Saxons are so far from being able to help them, that they are under the fearful Apprehensions of suffering the like from their own Prince (lately turned Roman Catholick to obtain the Kingdom of Poland) so soon as his Wars with Sweden, and other troubles created him by his Polish and Lithuanian Subjects will give him leave. Besides this, two Northern Princes have given great cause to suspect their Conversion to the Romish Religion: That Sweden by its separation from the rest of Europe by the Baltick, is unable to give assistance to the Protestants in any part of Europe, without the consent of the German Princes bordering on the Baltick, which will never be granted by Papists in favour of the Protestants.

A

that

Thus the Protestant Religion which had spread it self over almost all Europe, which had gain'd the entire possessions of some Countries, the greater part of others, and mighty Interest in most, has through the restless malice and endeavours of its Enemies, been subverted and destroyed in Country after Country, till it is at last reduced to a little Corner of what it once possess'd (England and Holland) And do we think our Enemies will not accomplish (what they have thus prosperously carried on so far) our utter Destruction? Is it not high time then to think our selve, in danger, to look about us to enquire what it is hath thus weaken'd us, brought us so near our ruin, what measures will certainly accomplish it, and what we must take for the prevention of it.

The Romish Methods of converting the Protestants have been in all Countries the same, viz: Confiscation of their Estates, Goals and Imprisonments, Fire, and Sword, dragooning and massacring, and inflicting the most inhuman Torments that rage and fury cou'd invent upon such, whose Resolution and Zeal for their Religion cou'd not be moved by the former means.

If this be the true case of England, and the Protestant Religion, then what is wanting to give the finishing stroke to our destruction, but only an ability in the King of France to break the Powers of England and Holland. And when we consider how in the year 1672. the King of France marched his Army through the midst of Flanders, fell directly upon Holland, then unprovided, enter'd their strongest Towns like open Villages; some without defence, or almost denial, most of them without any blows at all, and all of them with very few, and made himself Master of three parts of Holland in two Months time; for which Sir W. T. K. C. II's Ambassador (then in Holland) tells us the reason was, That the Dutch then not suspecting such a thing had no Field-Army sufficient to encounter their Enemies, or succour any Town: That walled Towns will not defend the Men within, unless the Hearts of the Men will defend their Walls: That no Garrison will make any resolute defence, without the prospect or hopes at least of relief. 'Tis true, that the French King having then all Flanders on his back, garison'd with Spanish Troops (then his implacable Enemies) a powerful Army of the German Princes marching upon him down the Rhine; Spain and England (alarm'd by his successes) preparing to attack him on all quarters, was glad to vomit up all again, and return home with as much precipitancy, as he had invaded them, lest the Provisions and retreat of his Army through Flanders should be cut off. But now the case is otherwise, he has possess'd himself of Flanders; extended his Dominion to the very Frontiers of Holland; Spain is all united to him, some German Princes (then his Enemies) are now become his Friends; others enter'd into conditions of Neutrality with him: And should he now by a fatal Battle (which God of his infinite mercy forbid) break the Dutch Army, which they have with infinite Charge and matchless Vigour, gather'd up from Denmark, Brandenburgh, and other remote Countries of Germany, might he not enter the heart of their Country? And whence then can their strong Cities and Towns depend upon relief? May he not as formerly enter 'em like open Villages? May he not as formerly possess himself of their whole Country in less than one Campaign? It was the opinion of that great Statesman, Sir W. T. That Holland wou'd make a stout resistance in any quarrel remote from their own doors; but that which enables them (their Wealth) to carry on a foreign War with Vigour, wou'd in a War at home render 'em defenceless: Rich and populous Towns are not fit for Sieges, or were ever known to make any long and resolute defence. If this be our case, if the whole power of the Protestant Religion rests now in a manner in England and Holland; if the destruction of England, as well as of our holy Religion, must inevitably follow the loss of Holland. If Holland by one unfortunate Battle might happen to be lost in one Campaign or less, Are we not in a most sad and deplorable Condition? and if some Men are without their Fears, Have we not the greater reason to fear for our selves, our Religion, and our Country.

What

William Dawson

George Jackson

John Dawson Esq.

~~If this be the true case of England, and the Protestant Religion, then what is wanting to give the finishing stroke to our destruction, but only an ability in the King of France to break the Powers of England and Holland.~~

What shou'd we judge of those who tell us, 'tis too early yet for England to declare? The Enemy has rais'd his Armies, furnish'd his Magazines; and 'tis too early for us to think of raising a Man. The Enemy is before our Outworks, and 'tis too soon for us to prepare our selves to be on our guard: Will not those Men tell us, when Holland is lost, 'twill then be too late? To what purpose (will they say) now do you think of raising Forces? Is not the French King Master of Holland? Possess'd of all their Ports? Where will you land them? To what use will you put 'em? Does not such Language as this plainly shew the intention of the Authors? Is it not plainly to deliver us blindfold, bound hand and foot into the Enemies hand? Is not their design now so visible as not to be disguised? Do not some of the Party begin to throw off the Mask, and tell us, 'Twill not be well with us till our old Master returns, till the Government returns to its natural Channel. And are not those that were the very Tools and Instruments of Popery and Arbitrary Power in former Reigns, and that owe their Lives to Acts of Indemnity in this, industriously represented by some as the Patriots of their Country; and by a strange kind of Paradox those that have been always hearty for the Church, and were for defending of it when others were for pulling it down; that were hearty for the King's Accession to the Throne, and to his Person and Government ever since, are represented as betrayers of us, as having sold us to France: Would it not be a piece of rare refin'd Policy, if France could hang up her greatest Enemies, under the Notion of her dearest Friends, and give Encouragement to her antient Friends, under the Notion of being her Enemies?

Let us therefore while it is yet in our power (as we tender our Religion and our Country) use our utmost Endeavours by all legal ways to assist his Majesty and his Government, against all his and our Enemies both at home and abroad.

Let us therefore while it is yet in our power
as we tender our religion & our Country use our utmost endeavours by all Legall way's to assist his Majesty & his government, against all his & our Enemy & both at E R N P S. home & abroad.

F I N I S

Finis

Finis

Finis

The end 318459